Description

Nestled at the end of a tranquil cul-de-sac, this detached two bedroom bungalow offers a unique opportunity for those dreaming of privacy and comfort.

Built in 1994, the property is designed to simplify and enhance everyday living. Visitors are greeted by a pretty front garden and welcomed into a convenient entrance porch. Both bedrooms and the entrance hall are equipped with ample in-built storage.

A handy utility room ensures that the kitchen-diner can remain a space for cooking and eating, and the spacious bay-windowed lounge/ lounge-diner can be furnished to suit the chosen lifestyle of the new occupier. A bright and airy conservatory looks out onto an enclosed lawned garden that is boarded with a range of cottage garden shrubs including a spectacular summer clematis.

With an attached garage, driveway and additional parking space — the sizable plot can comfortably accommodate multiple vehicles.

Situated in the pretty coastal village of Ryhope, number nine is perfectly positioned in terms of access to amenities and public transport. The village green and much admired Grade II* listed Ryhope Engines Museum are a short stroll away, as is some of the most beautiful coastline that Britain has to offer. Gas central heating, freehold ownership, and low council tax band (C) ensure living costs are kept to a minimum.

And with natural daylight flooding through each of the large double glazed windows, this modern property is bright, warm and well insulated.

Offered vacant, with no chain, this cozy yet spacious freehold property is a blank canvas for a new owner to make their mark and create their dream home. A detached freehold bungalow with this level of privacy and potential is a rare find and we expect it to be snapped up quickly.
